Panzerwrecks 2: German Armour 1944-45

Synopsis

Panzerwrecks 2 is a first rate photo book for fans of late-war German armor who desire large photos for their modeling and research projects. Its 96 pages contain 118 rare and unpublished photos from archives and veterans' collections around the world, all reproduced for maximum clarity.

Comprehensive captions provide proper identification of units, vehicles and locations as well as insight into their color, camouflage and markings. Readers will find a wealth of material on both the Eastern and Western Fronts during the pivotal years 1944-45. Featured in this volume are Panzer wrecks in Vienna and Berlin, German and Italian built AFVs in Yugoslavia, rocket launching halftracks, a Pz II training vehicle with Holzvergasser and other oddities both large and small.

All Panzerwrecks are co-authored by Lee Archer and William Auerbach. Lee Archer is a military vehicle historian living in Heathfield, Sussex (UK) with his wife and daughter. He previously designed master models for Accurate Armor of Scotland and has been a regular contributor to modeling magazines. William Auerbach lives in NY and has contributed armor related articles since the '70's and wrote 'Last of the Panzers' for Arms & Armor Press in 1984.

A bit of a disappointment. Almost all of these photos can be found on the net. I was looking for something more I guess Super interesting subject that has almost nothing previously printed. I hope there will more titles in the future. The pictures are extremely interesting and even more rare. Pictures needed for us nerd modelers.

Loved it tones of photos of rare tanks and unusual vehicles
