Barbara Jones Jones married Herb Jones when she was 19 years old. She began the life on an artist's wife and would become chief executive officer of Herb Jones Art Studio, promoting and selling her husband's 5,000 originals and half million prints to an international public for over 50 years. A graduate of Old Dominion University, Jones Jones is listed in the National Register's Who's Who in Executives and Professionals and received Woman of the Year in 2004 from the American Biographical Institute. She continues to direct the Herb Jones Art Studio in Norfolk, Virginia.

If you know any of this artist's work as either an original oil or via his prints, I am sure that you want to know more about him his art and inspiration. This book written by his wife is the answer. She tells of his childhood inspiration and includes plenty of pictures of his work many of them not released. For the collector of his work this is the perfect companion piece for them.
