Louise Spilsbury is an experienced author of nonfiction books for young people. Her writing covers a wide range of topics from animals and science to history and social studies.

Will use this book in our summer program for small children to learn of the Northern Arctic region's unique life.

This book is choppy in its layout and does not read easily.

Great book to learn about igloo and how they are made. The children really enjoyed reading this book.

Love it! My children at school enjoyed the pictures a lot!

My son had to complete a project on the Inuit tribe and he actually receive a 100 on his project we are so proud! Thanks to this book, his research was thorough and accurate. Great price and thank to Prime.

I ordered this book which came very fast. My first grade class is using this as a resource for our Project Based Learning Project on Greenland. The pictures and text are perfect for first grade!
