Jan was born in Portland, Oregon in 1938. In 1955, at age seventeen, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy. He spent twenty-five years in the Navy working in Naval Intelligence, where he honed his writing skills writing intelligence reports. Jan retired in 1980 as a Chief Intelligence Specialist. During his Naval career he served on three different cruisers, and fourteen different aircraft carriers, usually on Admiral's staffs. During the Vietnam War he saw duty in the war zone several times and received various citations and awards. Jan graduated from the University of North Florida in 1979, with a BA in History, and from the University of San Diego, School of Law, in 1984, with a JD degree. After practicing law for a few years, he quit the law business and entered into business in Mexico. He now devotes his full time to writing.

There were little publications about Chinese Swords in the market, so when I came across these series, I immediately jumped in even though there were little or no review. When the pack of books arrived, I was deeply disappointed at the following findings:- Most of the photographs were tiny and badly printed;- Plenty of 'white spaces' on each page: most pages consist of a couple of blurry photos and a little accompanying text;- Lots of descriptive texts printed alongside the photos were done Reverse background, ie. white letters on black background! To make matter worse, these text were misaligned in printing, making them blurry and extremely difficult to read; Good thing allows Refunds which I promptly went for: bought the 3 volumes and refund all 3 of them. Period.
